

New Free Traffic

Thank you very much for picking up New Free Traffic. We appreciate your support on every product. You keep us going to continue to create new and exciting ways to market.

The 1st thing that we want to mention is that we have a live training for you this Thursday, February 27th on how we made over $3 million dollars selling digital products and how you can too. To get your spot LIVE please go HERE.

Welcome to New Free Traffic!

As a marketer you need to be on top of the latest trends. That is the situation at hand. The time to be a marketer has never been better.

There was a launch just last week that did over $18 million dollars in a few days. Those types of scenarios used to be an Enigma but now they are becoming more and more common place. It is such an awesome time to be a marketer right now as there is so many options and choices.

With this new opportunity that we have in the greater marketing landscape, we are also faced with the fact that we have more competition. The game is bigger in terms of money and traffic, but it also is moving faster with more and more players involved. THAT is why it is so important to be on the cutting edge. That should be one of the reasons you are reading this today.

At this point in time the marketplace is moving and shaking. Apps / strategies are coming and going at a faster rate. Yes, there are still powerhouse platforms such as Facebook and YouTube yet the excitement, and the opportunity to have an “untainted” field in which to work are becoming harder and harder to find. You want to be there when there is exponential growth and opportunity. Not when everyone has heard of it a million times over. That is one of the reasons we are so excited to bring this to you in that you get to be a part of something in its infancy. At its most PURE form. That is extremely rare. You should be excited at this premise.

When these few and far between platforms become available the hype around it can be nuts.

This is the most hype that we have seen in a while.

Your goal is to get in front of people when the fire is hot. Right now my friend the fire is roaring.

People tell us they want EASY strategies. KISS (Keep it simple stupid).

Get us the most bang for our buck and make it so that we can do it with ease. This fits the mold. With no tech experience needed all you need is the desire to succeed.

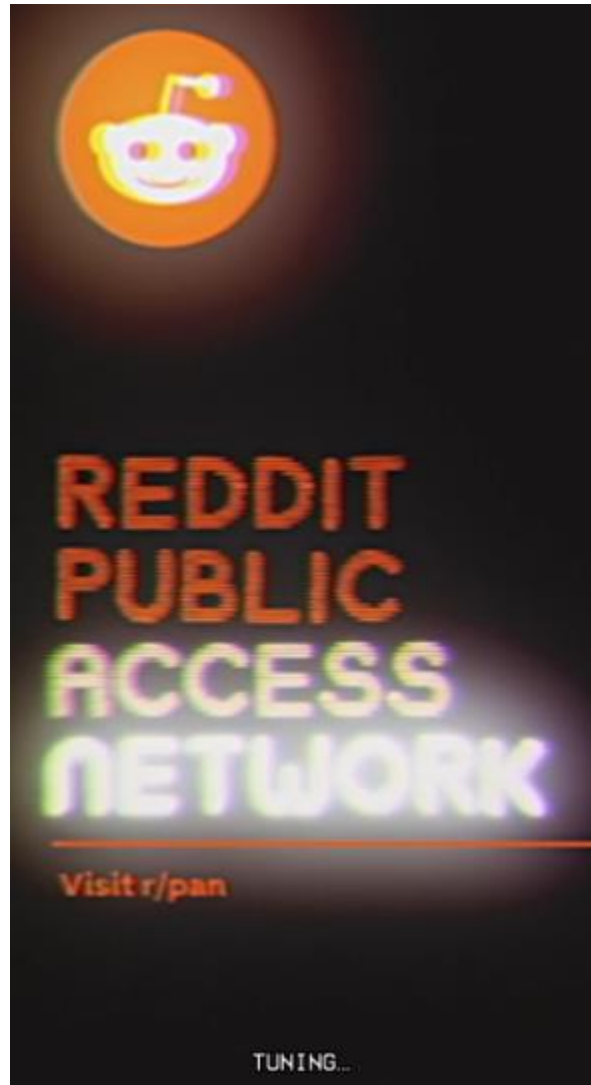

This platform is so hot that literally some people are getting a hundred thousand live viewers with basically doing nothing at all.

At the same time the VAST majority of people that are using this have no idea the power that is front of them. It reminds us of years ago when people had Facebook Pages with hundreds of thousands of users and they would sell it for basically nothing because they didn't know how to monetize it.

This has that same feeling.

Like we stated on the sales page this is still in beta which means there is SOOO much room to grow. As this platform grows it will be available more and more to the point that these results can be daily and potentially 24 / 7.

What we are talking about today is using the power of R/Pan.

You may have heard of Reddit before, but this is something completely different. In essence this is a brand-new platform under the umbrella of Reddit.

Think of it as a Facebook Live / YouTube / Discussion board and so much more but with a torrent of traffic, ease of use, with people that are ecstatic to watch.

If you happen to be someone that is not familiar with Reddit know that it is the number 6 site for traffic in the U.S.A although it is all over the world.

The only sites that are above it are Google, YouTube, Amazon, Facebook, and Yahoo. Ever heard of any of those sites?

So, to say that the traffic is insane is an understatement. Here is the thing. You have been bombarded year after year with people talking about and making courses on Google, YouTube, Amazon, and Facebook and no one denies that there is crazy traffic. Yet... people in the community don't talk about Reddit. That is just dumb. You are missing out on a ridiculous amount of traffic. Marketers certainly have not been talking about R/Pan because it literally just came out a few weeks ago. It doesn't get any fresher than this!

Effectively at this point R/ Pan is a way for you to make free live broadcasts from anywhere in the world to the Reddit community. Again the "community" is huge with billions of views every month from millions upon millions of people. Another wonderful thing about it is that you don't have any other marketers in there like you do in the other platforms. The only other people that you would be up against are those that bought this course, and the small percentage of people that take action. Comparatively speaking that is a drop in the bucket when we are talking about the amount of views that are currently up for grabs.

What we love about this platform is that at this point in time the scales are weighted so heavily in your favor. People are so excited to see this content yet there are so few producers.

Here is the thing. Reddit is really pushing this platform. While it is in Beta it allows this new option to be open weekly with the goal of being daily.

When it opens up every week Reddit is promoting this big time. In other words, for the millions of people that are scrolling through Reddit they are seeing “R/Pan” on their main feed. They can’t help but see it.

They are then brought into this world of the Reddit Public Access Network.

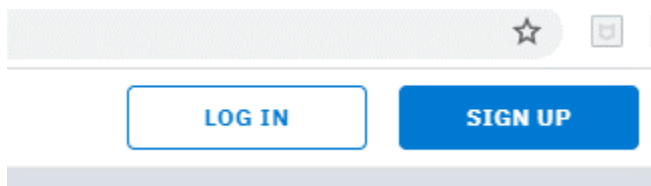

Reddit wants this to succeed in a big way and has put a lot of time, money, and resources behind it. So far, the results have been amazing.

If you have not yet you need to download the Reddit mobile app from either the Apple or Android app store. It is free to download.

Late last month Reddit started letting RPAN broadcast every Thursday. Since this is in Beta things are changing rapidly. Right now, the broadcast times are 10 am – 5pm pacific standard time. Very soon this time frame is going to be longer from 1 am to 5 pm pacific and then it will be built out from there to be daily.

When they currently turn it on every Thursday (Again the time frame and days of viewing are being built out as we speak as this is so crazy new) the community goes nuts over it from some of the early results we showed you on the sales page. Since we are launching this Thursday for those that buy on that day you will see it in action. If you are buying this on a day after Thursday, you will see it / use it the following Thursday. So, it is important for you to not say “where is the camera button?” on a day that is currently not Thursday. Very shortly it will be more days.

If you do not have an account yet on Reddit.com make sure to sign up.

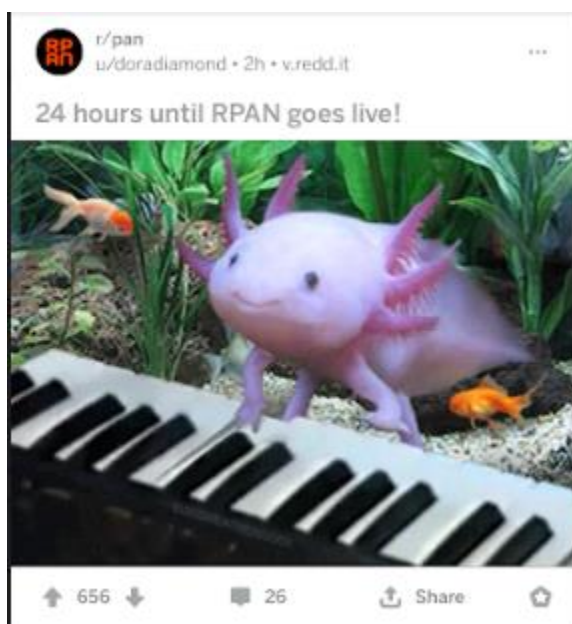

It is important to remember the following.

- 1. You MUST Download the Reddit Mobile App (from your iOS or Android App Store) to broadcast live on r/Pan.

2. In the REDDIT MOBILE APP on your phone go to r/pan or in your MOBILE browser go to <https://reddit.com/r/pan> and it will bring up your installed Reddit app on your phone. You can access r/pan on your desktop, but you cannot broadcast from the desktop. It is only from mobile currently.

3. On Thursdays (While in BETA) you will see the r/pan live stream and will be able to broadcast live and get views. Currently any other day you will see “just” the discussion subreddit.

Currently on Wednesdays if you are a subscriber to reddit.com/r/pan They will give a big notification that it is going live the following day.

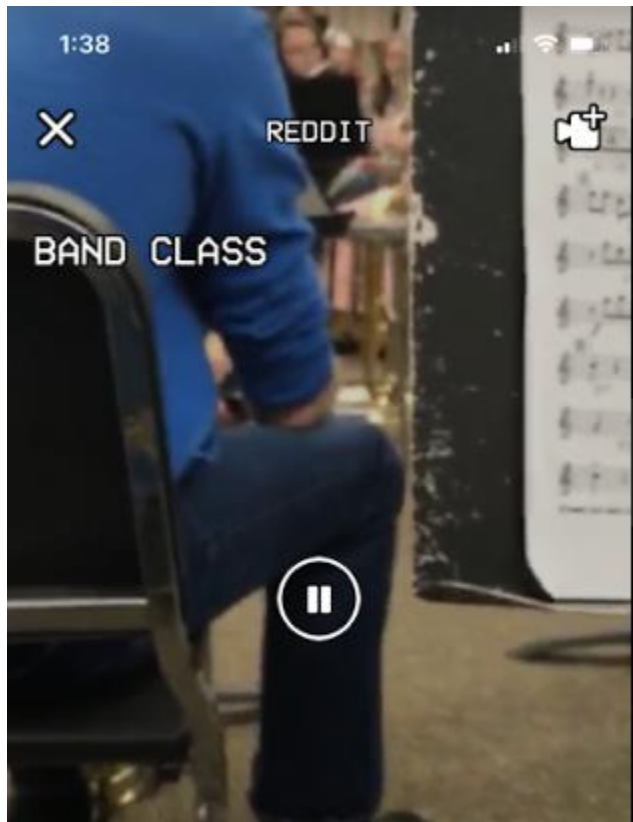

As stated, it currently runs weekly on Thursdays, but they give you the big hyped notification. There are already 656 “ups” within 2 hours of the post clearly showing how excited people are for the weekly R/pan.

When R/Pan goes live you will see it on the main Reddit feed. You can scroll down and see it.

You will see the main feed with someone streaming live which you can then click on the movie icon within your app OR by going directly to www.reddit.com/r/pan

For example, this person live streaming their band class.

In the upper right-hand corner, you have the camera icon with a plus.

Even though that is their stream you can click / tap with your finger on the icon to make your own stream.

By clicking this you can stream yourself.

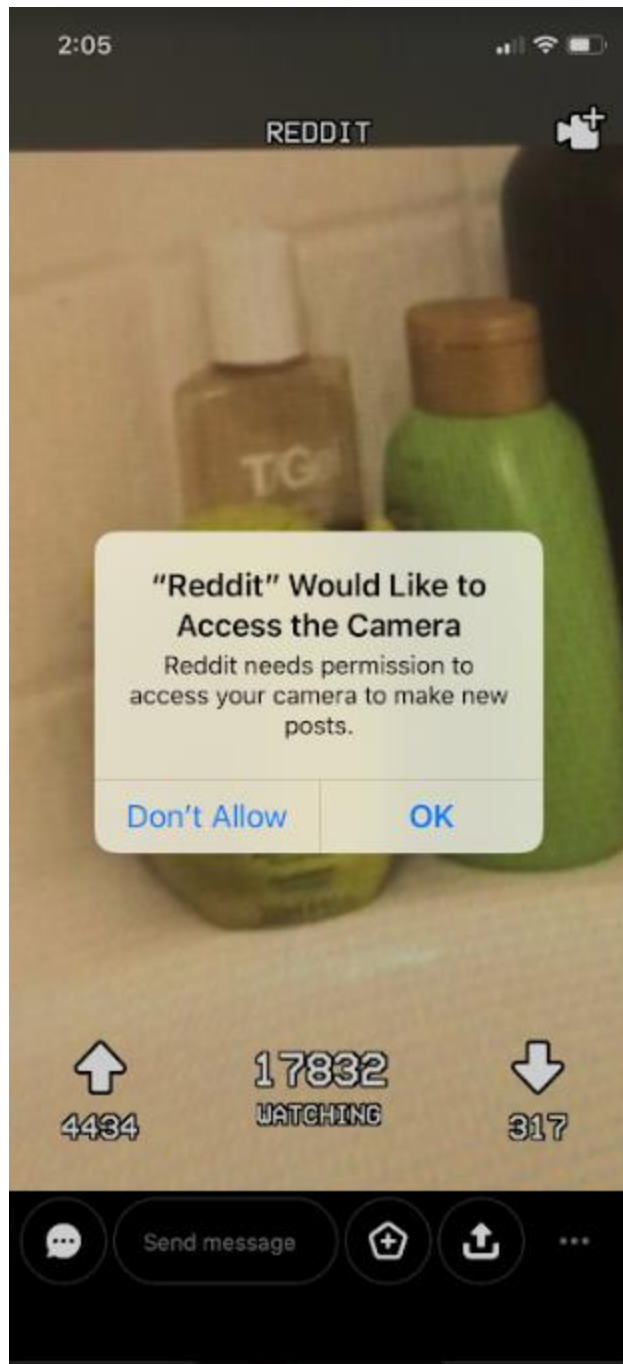

What is so fun and interesting about this platform are that people are streaming about everything.

So, for example if you saw the stream of someone showing their bathtub. (Over 11,000 LIVE viewers btw on this one). I hope you understand just how nuts the potential is for live viewers.

Click on the camera icon in the upper right-hand corner.

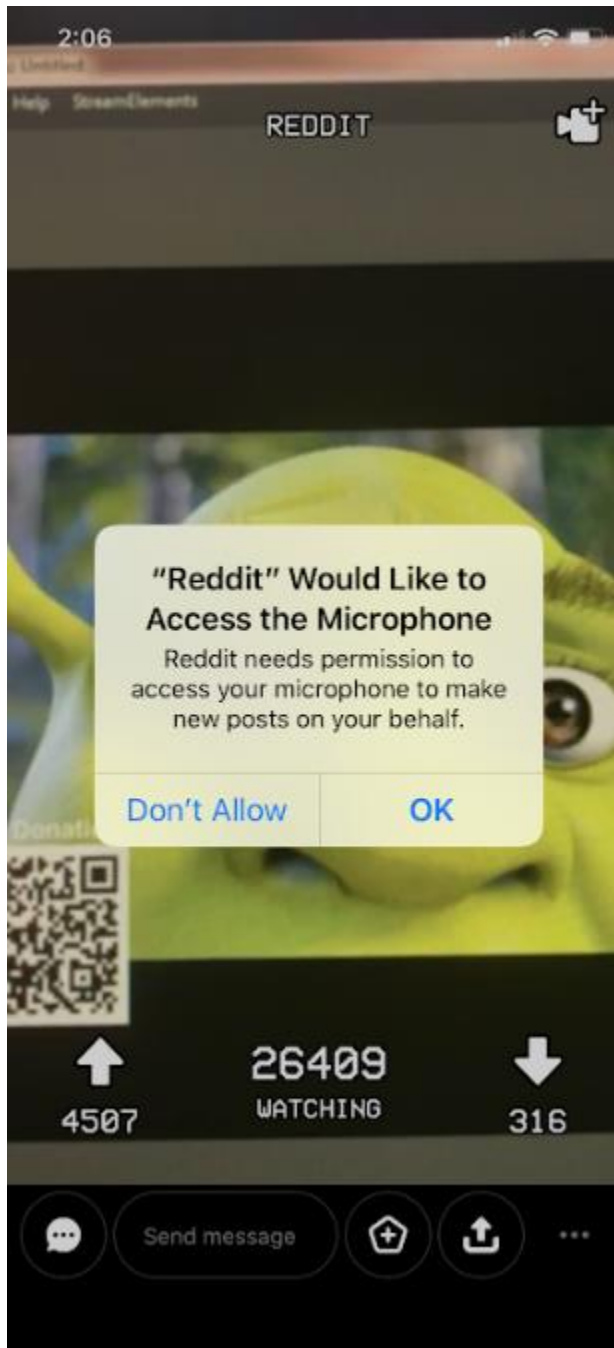

Reddit will ask you if it can use your camera in the app.

By the time I clicked the button there were over 6,000 more people watching a freaking soap bottle!

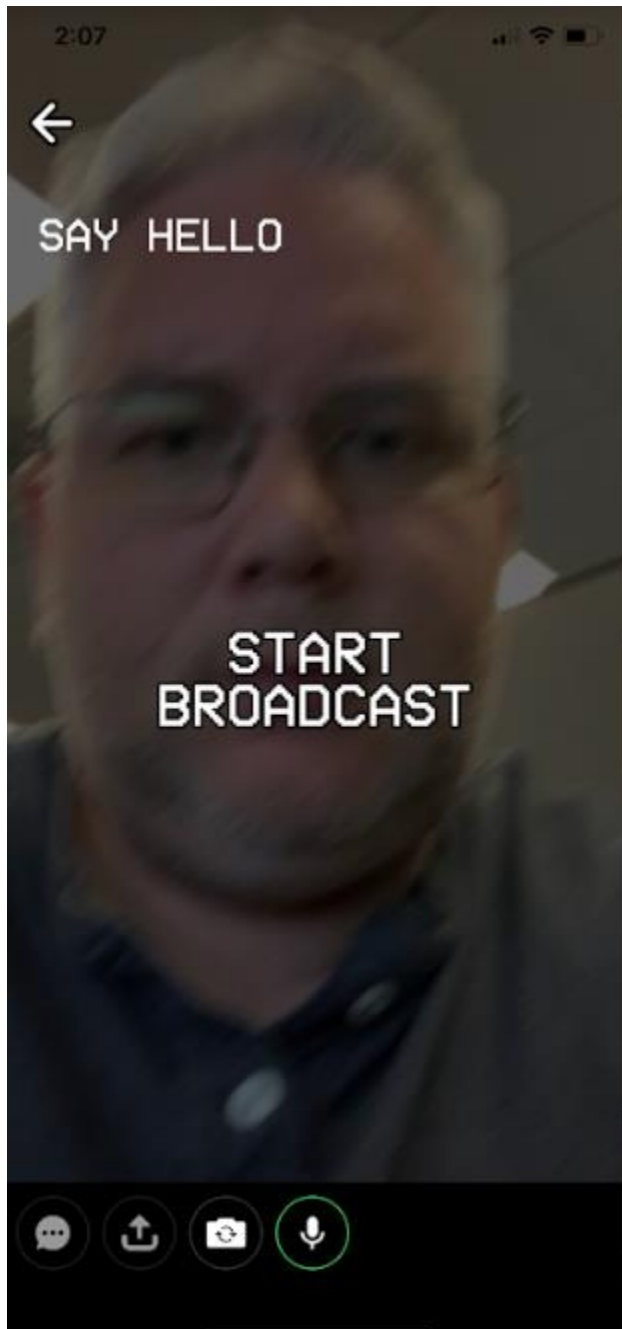

It then asks if it can use your microphone.

Now up to 26,000 Live viewers!

Put in your title and start broadcasting.

I literally put "Say Hello" on this one. You can put whatever you want. It is so wide open that people are interacting with EVERYTHING because there are millions of people on the platform yet so few people that will take 2 seconds to share a live.

You start the broadcast and you are on air.

You can see the chat, reverse your camera, close it out when you are done. It is super simple.

That is what we love. We love simple and powerful. This tool lets you get in front of millions of people with literally the touch of your fingertip.

Jeremy goes on there and people are just asking all kinds of things and interacting like nothing we have ever seen before. They don't know him from anything! Yet in an instant he has person after person live, just like that!

We are at the initial stages which is so crazy about this. The views are there in an insane way, there is no denying that. The question is what are you going to do with it? Are you prepared to be with something at the forefront and build a massive audience before others do? Or are you going to let this brand-new information slip?

Let's say you were in the weight loss niche. You could easily say "Ask me about how I lost 50 pounds". People would be so captivated and ask you all kinds of questions. This is a perfect target market. Obviously not every person of the millions out there are interested in weight loss, but thousands are. You get to pluck those people out of the ether. They are sucked into your LIVE. You give them lots of value related to your topic and certainly let them know about your YouTube channel or wherever it is you want to push them. Maybe you would like to create a Reddit page and push them toward that. It is up to you. The point is the people are in front of you. It is like you are at a rock concert and you can just put up your hand with a megaphone in front of 20,000 people and say whatever you want.

Currently there is a time limit of one hour of talk time. Some don'ts on the platform. Don't have not safe for work content. Don't do something dumb like showing nudity. This should go without saying but it needs to be stated. Reddit is an upstanding community so use common sense.

Nothing illegal on here.

You should also not be marketing without giving any value. In other words, don't spam. Don't just get 10,000 people live and say here is my affiliate link, here is my affiliate link. You are there to get attention and let them know what you are all about with legitimate content.

So far, some people are starting to get the right idea. Know that you don't have to sell anything on here. For example, this person is just strumming his guitar and has almost 200,000 people watching him live. The bed isn't made in the background lol. He decided to put a little print out of his Venmo account (Venmo is similar to PayPal). So, people can send him tips. I guarantee with 200,000 live he had some tips coming. This was all without selling anything.

A lot of people aren't even getting on camera. Many people simply point their mobile phone and start recording their computer screen.

This one had over 50,000 people live watching a screen saver of stars.

I've seen others put it to a music channel to stream music.

This guy literally sits there and pets his dog and doesn't say a word like a sociopath, yet people watch in droves.

You name it people are doing it.

You don't really have to be innovative at all. I've seen people record themselves going for a walk.

This was an interesting strategy. Guy was showing his computer screen and said for every 100 likes you will see a new picture of Shrek. This was early on, but it ended up getting CRAZY views.

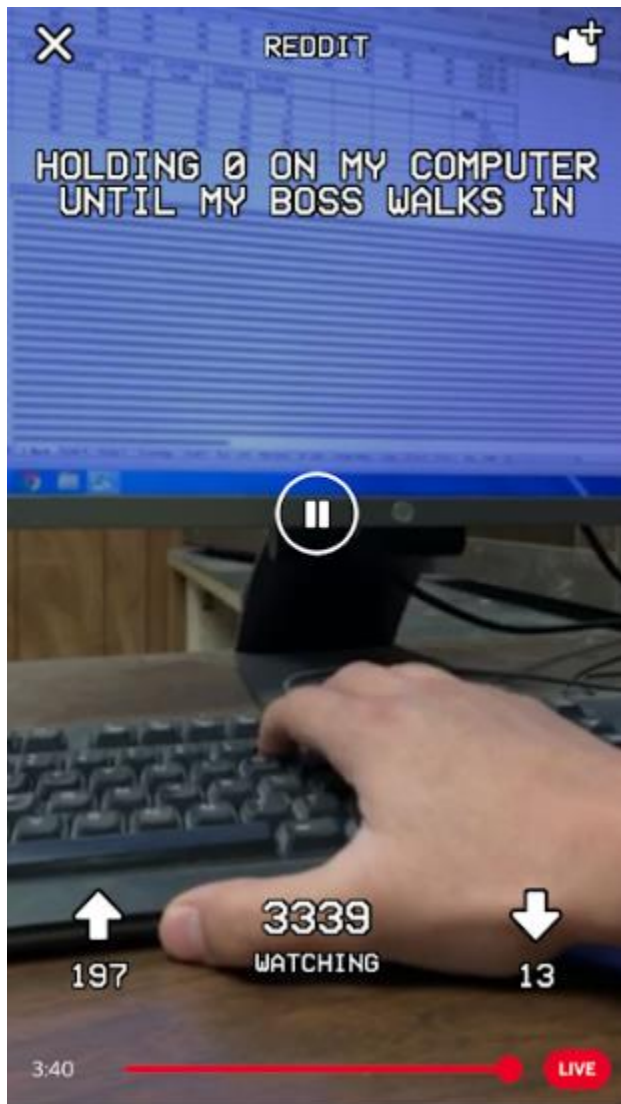

Notice on the left side of the screen he had a code to send Bitcoin donations. People are definitely monetizing this. There is the overt way (Without even mentioning it) of simply entertaining people with a call to action to tip like you saw with the Venmo or Bitcoin.

There are also saying “learn more about me at my website”, or YouTube, Instagram or whatever. The point being you get 50,000 people watching you live for example and push them where you do your REAL monetizing. Think of this for what it is. It is traffic. Let them know you and or your message and push them where you want them to go. Now you may not get 100,000 live people on your specific stream. You may get 1, 10, 100, 1000, 10,000,100,000 or anywhere in between. The thing is the traffic is there and you have the opportunity to go get it. There isn't another source that we are seeing that without a list, without a following, without being “known” that you can trap into live traffic like this instantly. This is a first.

There is nothing this free and powerful currently. Maybe in a couple of months there will be something else, but this is the real hotness right now.

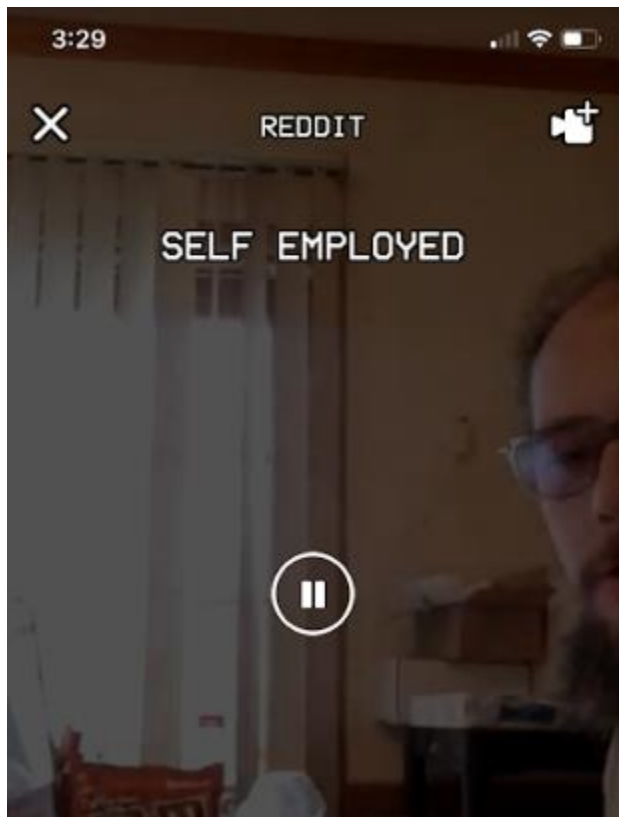

Again, you don't have to be a rocket scientist here to get potentially crazy views. This guy literally is holding down the zero key on his computer and 3 minutes in has over 3,000 live viewers.

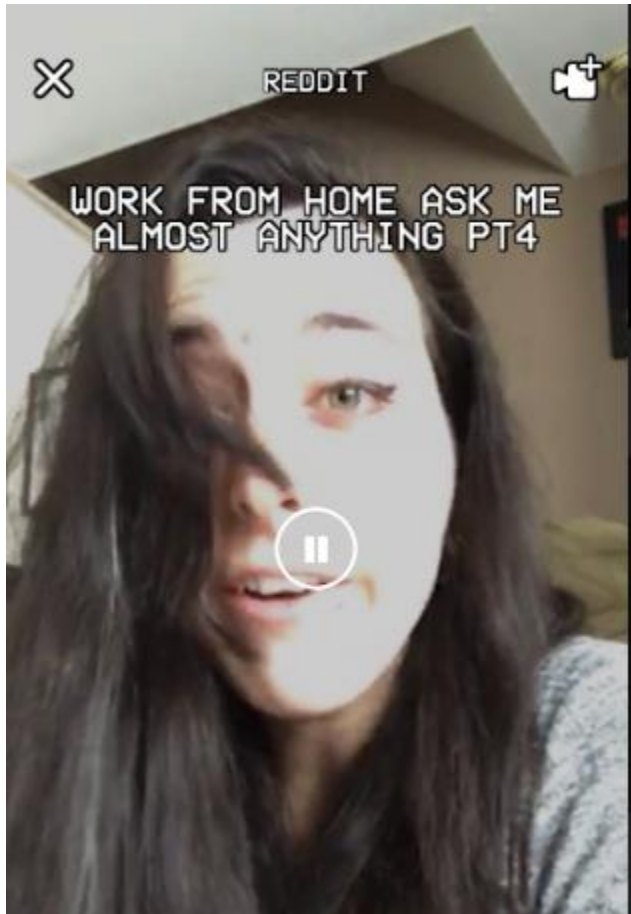

I mean really? You telling me you are not capable of doing that?

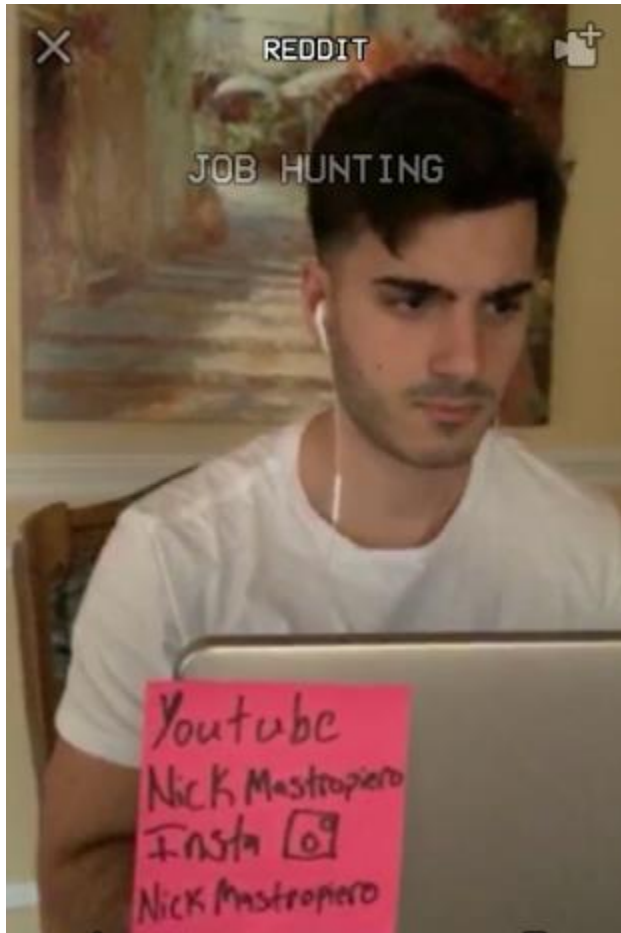

I'm not saying that you should hold down a zero key on your computer, but the point is you can do just about anything. People simply are enamored with this new platform is the point we want to stress here.

You may do something like "self-employed" or "I work from home ask me anything"

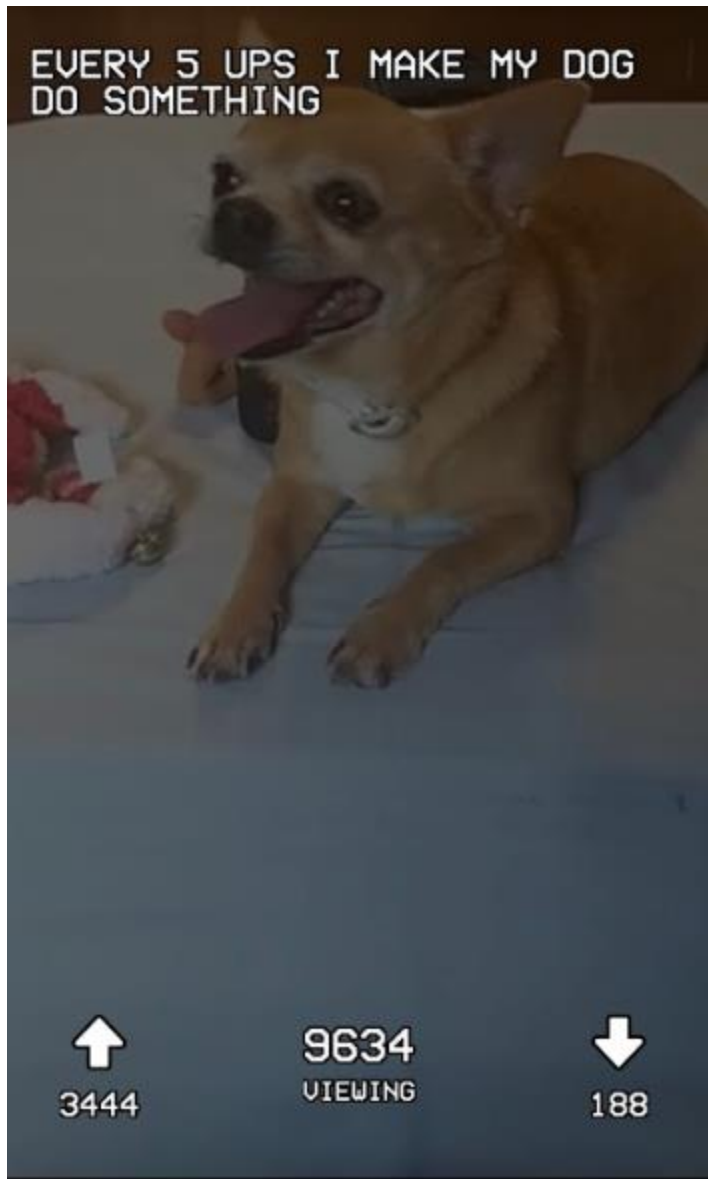

This guy gets it below. He didn't necessarily verbalize how to see more of him. He just literally put a post it note with his info on his computer.

I really like the option of saying IF you give feedback like “ups” then something happens. Often this makes your stream go viral and Reddit gives it more love by showing your stream sooner. The more love it gets the more views you get. It is a cycle that helps it blow up quick.

There are so many opportunities that I hope you are chomping at the bit.

This premise takes a solid platform that gets billions of views with a brand-new twist letting you live stream. You stream what you want and push people to what you want.

The mechanics are so dead simple to get going yet the power is unreal. This makes “Free New Traffic” an awesome way for you to get exactly what it says Free, New, Traffic.

We wanted to get you into this while it is at its earliest stages. The faster we can get it to you the more you are ahead of the curve. It is important for you to be ahead of other marketers to see success. Enjoy this Beta platform as it moves to extended hours in the near future to extended days. Be there and grow with it. Enjoy it!
